

Young Leader Program USA

Invites you to a leadership course on International Business

2014

Boston is the home of Harvard. Many schools, colleges and universities make Boston an international center of higher education and medicine, and the city is considered to be a world leader in innovation. Boston's economic base includes mutual funds, insurance, finance, professional and business services, and government activities. The city is home to a number of technology companies and is a hub for biotechnology. Tourism comprises a large part of Boston's economy, with 21.2 million domestic and international visitors spending $8.3 billion.
